

A dark, moody photograph of two hands, one larger than the other, with the word 'DARKNESS' overlaid in red. The hands are positioned in the center of the frame, with the larger hand on top and the smaller hand below it. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the textures of the skin and the fingers. The background is a dark, textured surface, possibly a wall or a piece of fabric, with some faint, lighter-colored markings. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and somber.

DARKNESS

An Original Theatrical Experience

Venue Supervisor

We are looking for a Venue Supervisor who wants to do more!

We're looking for a Venue Supervisor for our upcoming production Darkness who wants to do more! Darkness is a new site specific and intimate theatrical experience for 150 people. Taking place at The Library, 5 Eliza Street Newtown with performances commencing from the 10th January 2023 for an open ended season, the production is created by Andrew Bovell, Zoey Dawson, Dino Dimitriadis, Dan Giovannoni, and Megan Wilding.

The past haunts the present, and the present is a kaleidoscope of infinite possibilities. Set in the near future of wild storms and oppressive social controls, Darkness transports audiences into overlapping worlds of mystery, transformation, fantasy, and wonder. A site-responsive theatrical experience like no other; rich and seductive, gothic and resonant.

Amid thunder and lightning, five deeply-curious and combative friends defy orders to take refuge in an abandoned house, now an eerie mansion of lost and extinct things. At its centre is the infamous poet Byron who, confronted by nature's wrath, turmoil and plague, is caught in a tug of war of life and death.

Inspired by an extraordinary gathering in 1816, the Year Without a Summer, Darkness comes alive with potent and entertaining stories as the cohorts trade brilliant tales, conjure spirits and look to the past to contemplate the future. It is a colliding landscape of rich imagery, startling transformation, flashbacks and forebodings.

Both intimate and epic, the adventurous production explores themes of savage nature, hunger for connection, life, death, and the desire to be reborn and renewed.

Dare to look into the future, dare to become part of our team!
